Additional questions on the teaching unit

Which aspects of the unit were particularly successful and should definitely be retained, in your opinion?

The application of the IPA system
The work with the tutorial + homework
The attendance list

Content was taught with a great sense of humor which made listening and learning very easy. Little exercises to keep the concentration up were also a great change in the daily schedule.

Collecting questions in the beginning of class concerning the weekly reading.

Very good presentation.

- clear structure of each unit
- good powerpoint presentations

taking everything with a sense of humor,
the Power Point Presentations

Everything we learned was good and interesting in a way.
There is no specific topic which should be excluded.

I liked the clear division into subtopics because it made comprehension and preparation much easier. The slides were very informative and helpful. The lecturer's jokes and references to memes improved the learning atmosphere a lot.

the reading about every topic so one is prepared for the discussion; I enjoyed applying the knowledge and theories on several examples instead of just being given the theory.

Homework / Exercises and reading tasks are very helpful.

readings and teacher's slides → very useful

The utilization of videos, memes etc., made learning more fun. The powerpoints were well-made → clear summaries of topics.

The overall structure of the lessons worked well and was clear

~~the explanations were~~
~~the humor~~ the combination between humour and seriousness in the seminar.

For me it was very helpful to have an overview at the beginning of the course. Homework and Revision were really ~~so~~ helpful!

I appreciated the funny slides!
You put much thought into keeping students entertained.

subject matter was explained in an interesting, enthusiastic way, humor to lighten things up

The beginning. When everyone was motivated.

The humorous approach made me really like the lessons!

the discussion units and the intuitive approach

(also baby angry baby dog)

~~The parts that I felt~~ the Phoneme and the syllable definitely pulled my attention and that made me think ~~me~~ that I would like to continue Linguistics

Which aspects of the unit would you judge negatively/what should be improved (if applicable, how)?

Maybe Handouts to summarize concepts.

Control of homework
comments on students arriving late

Nothing, actually. 😊

I could answer this question better if I already had the ~~exam~~ grade of the exam! So far, no complaints... (we'll see) more discussion of the homeworks

I think the revision period should be in English as the terms have to be learned in English anyway.
Doing it in German is confusing.

on most Monday mornings the room was way too cold :/

it's sometimes hard to get questions if you have the feeling that you haven't ~~understood~~ understood the text in a whole but that might be a personal problem

Further suggestions, hints, comments etc.:

Best lecturer!
Always fun and interesting!

Even though I don't like linguistics, it was pretty ok in this course. The lecturer made a really good job.

Great teaching skills

Mrs Flach is a good and fair teacher. If I would have studied a bit harder I would've learned a lot more than I have.

It was a really interesting course! (which I would have never expected :))

The course was very demanding, but appropriately so. ~~I really~~ I didn't know much about linguistics before and it really answered my interest in it. I really like your teaching style, you're both relaxed and very thorough.

Thanks. I enjoyed this 😊

The lecture was great, despite not being a linguistics student, she welcomed me to the lecture and that was very interesting and kind of her
