Interdisziplinäres Forum zur Nacht.

Interdisciplinary discussions on night.

Night media

Will Straw, James McGill Professor of Urban Music Studies, McGill University, Montreal, Canada

We are accustomed to thinking of news and entertainment media in the present moment as operating on a 24/7 basis, with their constant availability obliterating the differences between night and day.

May we still speak of night media? Do people consume media differently in the night? Are the media of night different in tone, style and content from those of the day? Is there a night-time internet?
