Governing the nighttime city: the rise of night mayors

Mirik Milan, Nighttime advocate, VibeLab

Nightlife contributes to and strengthens the position of cities as creative capitals. Here, like-minded individuals find each other and creative talent develops, increasing urban economy. Over the past two decades, a new actor has emerged to govern the nighttime city: more than 40 cities have appointed night mayors responsible for maintaining nocturnal vibrancy, while mediating between those who wish to work, party or sleep. In light of the Covid-19 crisis, new challenges arise. From lockdown to long-term, cities are asking how to re-envision urban systems. Night mayors around the globe have unified their efforts to protect the urban night.
